

Deposit Insurance An Extra Measure of Protection

The management of this Bank always has taken every possible precaution to safeguard the funds of its depositors. In keeping with this traditionally conservative policy, deposits made here are now insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

The insurance thus provided applies to all deposits, including personal and corporate deposits, deposits of public funds and trust awaiting investment.

At the present time, the maximum amount insured for each depositor is $5,000. This does not mean that a depositor with an account of, say $500, is guaranteed $5,000, but it does mean that his $500 is fully insured. Deposit insurance is for your protection. It is a permanent part of the Nation's law.

RANGER INFORMATION BOX

By Ranger W. A. Medesy
U. S. Forest Service

Last Friday and Saturday Marlinton had for a visitor a man named Mr Shipp from Washington who has been the official photographer of the United States Forest Service for thirty-four years.

His is an interesting life. He has been in every national forest in the United States and Alaska—some 160 odd.

His job is to take pictures of the beauty spots in each forest. With the Monongahela National Forest the largest in the east and with many natural wonders, Mr Shipp could not afford to overlook us.

Unfortunately cloudy and wet weather spoiled his first 10 days in West Virginia, but the day he hit Marlinton he had good sunny weather. Our party composed of Forest Supervisor Wood, Mr Shipp and myself left Marlinton Friday afternoon out to show Mr Shipp that here his artistry in photography could best be added to.

He took pictures as we went along roads, streams, patches of white pine and rock formations. Our route took us to Huntersville, Minnehaha Springs, Rimel, Mountain Grove, up Back Creek to Valley Center, from there to Paddys Knob and back through Frost to Marlinton.

Saturday Mr Shipp took pictures of two Marlinton flaxen-haired girls, posing in bathing suits at the edge of the pool in Knapps Creek near Huntersville.

The many pictures Mr Shipp took will be used as publicity material for the Mountain State Forest Festival, road maps, railroad folders and lantern slides.

Pictures tell a story at a glance that many words could not describe. We are fortunate to have these pictures taken and place our forest another step ahead in becoming a recreational center.

Miss Vivian Musgrave was present and gave a very interesting talk on county camp and completion of projects at the monthly business meeting of the Edray Producers 4-H club.

The meeting was held at the schoolhouse, Thursday night, July 11. Miss Musgrave also gave some important points on judging bread. On the following Thursday night the club will meet to select a judging and demonstration team to represent them at the county fair.

The Greenbank Farm Women's club will meet at the home of Mrs. M. C. Friel, Wednesday night, July 31, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Warren Ervin, secretary, will be the leader of the lesson, "Food Secrets of the Frugal Family." All members are urged to be present and other women of the community who may be interested in the meeting are invited to attend.

Thursday night, July 25th, at 8 o'clock, the members of the Minnehaha Springs Farm Women's club will meet at the home of Mrs. Maggie Lockridge. "Patriotism of the 4-H Variety," will be the topic for discussion. Mrs. Elmer Moore, leader. Other women of the community who may be interested in the meeting are invited to attend.

Mr and Mrs O. E. Stanard and family and Mrs Stanard, all of Huntington, are spending two weeks at the Price Cottage, at Minnehaha Springs

PYLES MOUNTAIN

On June 24, L. E. Gaylor found a ewe had given birth to three lambs. This may not rate a line with Ripley but these are the first triplets to live here, and we are proud of them.

I have heard of ground hog's teeth cutting teeth growing wild into very funny shapes. This spring Cecil Gaylor found a rabbit starved to death, because a lower incisor had grown out of his mouth and turned to come back through his chin.

I heard a flutter in a shade tree where a robin had her nest, and saw the mother bird chasing a ground squirrel ahead of time down out of that tree. That squirrel was up that tree to kill and eat the baby robins I have reports of ground hogs eating locusts, and seemingly enjoying them.

Mrs Florence Gaylor reports that her children once had two ground squirrels in a cage. They heard a racket in the night; the next morning it was found one squirrel had made a midnight lunch of the others head. If the chipmunk is a meat eater on the side, why put him on the varment list and reduce his numbers.

Reports say that the woods are full of young grouse. Some hens are reported with as many as 25 chicks.

A boquet to the man sending in Senator Vest's tribute to a dog. I never tire of reading it, and had always intended sending it to the Times. The Senator appeared before court in a small Missouri town for a client suing for $250 for the killing of a dog. The jury and judge with tearful eyes, gave damages in the amount of $500.

I am anxious to know more about Orland Sum's little dog, Rex, over Rider Gap way. The breed; was he trained to fight bear, or was he just naturally in him? I am sure there are others beside myself among the Times readers who are lovers of dogs.

My friend Bill Crigger, of Beaver Creek, is a nature lover right, and the birds and beasts have no better friend and protector. During the season he does not seek to take more than a dozen each of squirrels and rabbits. Before sportsmen generally began to advocate small gauge guns to give game a break, why Bill was hunting with a 28 gauge. A few years ago, all the rabbits knew they were welcome on Bill's farm and there they congregated. They peeled some of the young apple trees; Bill got his little gun and trimmed the rabbit population down to his size and kept them at that ever since.

Bill and others have said nice things about liking to read my writing. I say tell it to the editor—he is the one that lets it through.

I thought I felt funny the other day, and when the paper came out I realized the funny feeling was due to the editor being so near on his trip down Island Lick. Looks like you could have said hello.

John F. Scott.

The Swago Farm Women's Club will meet at the home of Mrs. A. H. Duncan, Friday night, July 19, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Ora McNeill will lead the discussion of the lesson, "The Home Maker at Her Best." All members are urged to be present.

Misses Alice Fortune, Margie King, Olive Anderson and Mrs Ray Farley spent the weekend in Washington, D. C., and Glen Echo, Maryland.

Miss Harriet McNeel, of Hillsboro, is spending her vacation with her parents, Dr and Mrs Winters McNeel Miss McNeel has been located in New York City for the past few years.

June McElwee and family are camped at Bolar Springs for a couple of weeks.

A. & P. COMING

R. R. King, vice-president of the Central Division, Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, out of Pittsburgh, and J. E. Patterson, superintendent of the stores of that company in the Fairmont area, were in Marlinton last Friday. Their business was to prepare for the opening of the A & P Store in the building just completed by Mrs Anna V. Hunter, adjoining the Bank of Marlinton Building. The opening of the new store is set for Friday morning July 19.

I know no better sign of a good business town with good prospects for growth and development than the coming of an A & P Store. This great corporation is literally nation wide in its scope, and as it continues to branch out the good towns are plucked and the dead ones passed by.

Naturally, the absentee landlordism feature of the business has been stressed by local business which compete in the same field with the great system of centrally controlled stores, but the fact remains if the A & P did not perform a definite and appreciated service in supplying demands for food, their stores could not have been so universally successful.

My neighbor in the publishing business is an unit of a big chain of country newspapers, and I have ever taken the position that if I exercise a due amount of energy to produce quality service good enough to create a demand for it, I will get by in spite of great resources of men, money and business ability behind my competitor.

In my blunt way I plainly asked Mr King and Mr Patterson what sort of good neighbors could we expect the A & P to be in our community. To that fool question, they replied their money and their business was now in the same boat with the rest of us; that what helped the rest of us benefitted them. For instance, local people will find employment in the store, and application will be made for membership in the County Board of Trade. They will supply a market for certain kinds of farm products, not only to supply their own local store's demands but for other branches as well.

You know, I have the big idea that potato growing can be developed into the big cash crop industry of our county. I brought this matter up and Mr King allowed his big company might aid materially, in not only furnishing a big local market, but also in assisting in the development of the industry through their potato man working with county agent and farmers.

Lieutenant A. M. Senné, United States Army, chaplain to serve the CCC camps in the Marlinton sector, is now at his post of duty.

Mr and Mrs E. H. Williams and daughter Grace Virginia, spent Sunday at Valley Center, Virginia.
